

I Don't Need The World

I'm not sure which coast I was headed for that night
When we were introduced I could not board that flight
I've gone a million miles and found I'm not so smart
When I found you I found the answers of the heart
Thought I needed Eiffel Towers
Taxi cabs in London showers
Now I sit with you for hours

I don't need the world when I can be with you
Oh I believe in what my heart tells me to do
'Cause I believe in you

I've known the landscape of both happiness and strife
The two extremes defined the meaning of my life
I sailed the oceans, crossed the land in lonely trains
But I could never find what love alone explains

Thought I needed Mona Lisa
Had to climb the Tower Of Pisa
All I wanna do is please ya

I don't need the world when I can be with you
Oh I believe in what my heart tells me to do
'Cause I believe in you

Earthly treasures are beautiful it's true
But can't replace one moment's pleasure found with you

I don't need the world when I can be with you
Oh I believe in what my heart tells me to do
'Cause I believe in you
I believe in, I believe, I believe in you
